To the Class of 1981

As I write this letter to you, our Nineteenth Graduating Class, it is difficult for me to believe that two decades have passed since the beginning of Massachusetts Bay Community College. Over these twenty years, I have seen so many diversified students pass through our doors. They came as strangers, each with different backgrounds - each with contrasting expectations - and those strangers became friends, as you have done.

As I look back and see the development of the College, I realize that the standards and integrity set in the early years have been perpetuated, and you all seem to have much of the same enthusiasm, dedication and sincerity that the first Class of the College had.

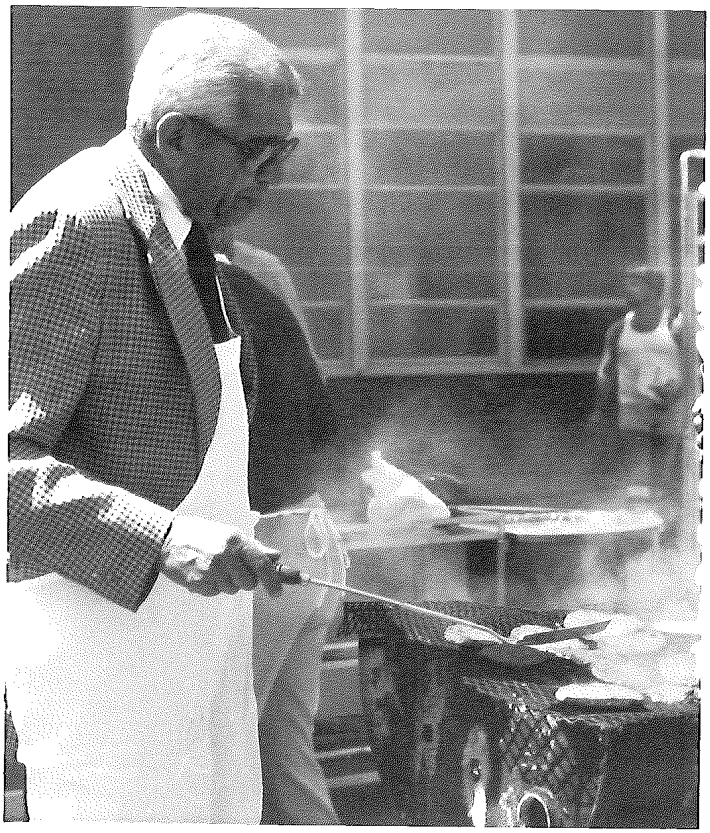

You came to us with great potential and as you go forward, there is spread before you a world of privilege, opportunity, responsibility, and it is all yours. You have attained a goal that you set for yourselves. Your graduation marks an end, but also a beginning - a beginning to create and thus be rewarded with a fulfilled future.

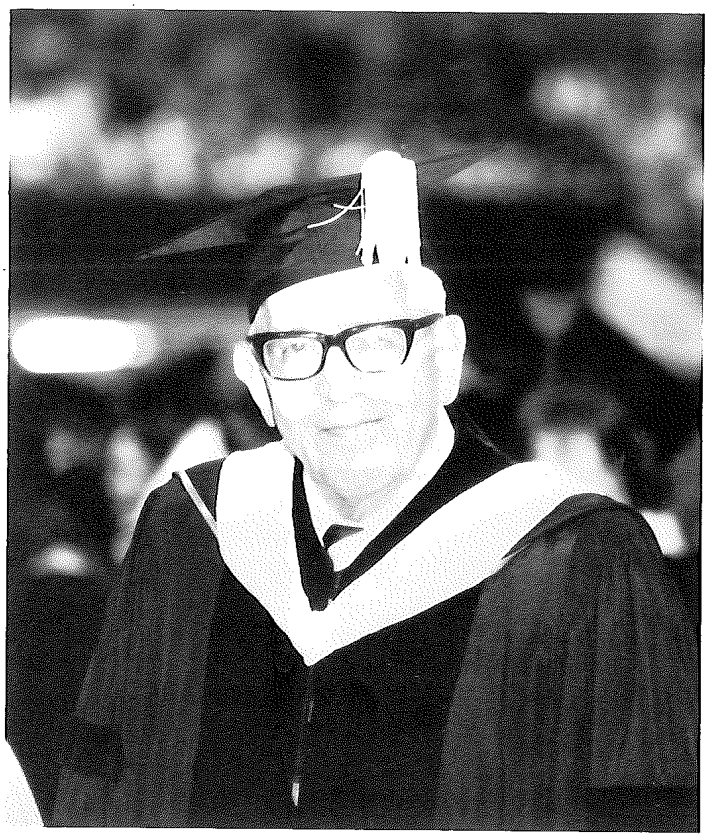

I know I speak for the Faculty, Administration and Staff when I say that I hope we have contributed significantly to your sense of self worth and self confidence. In addition, I urge you to take your place among the ever-growing Alumni of your college and lend it the support that it needs.

We all join in wishing you "Good Luck and Godspeed".

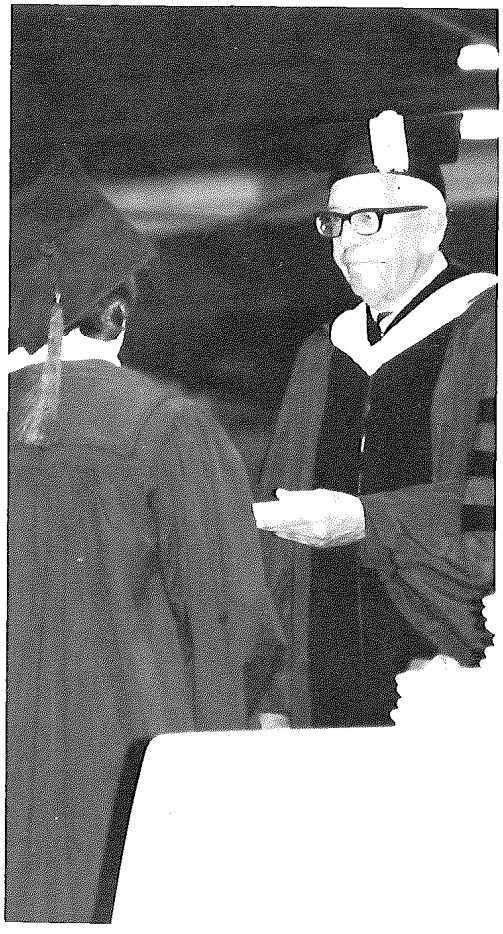

Sincerely, yours,

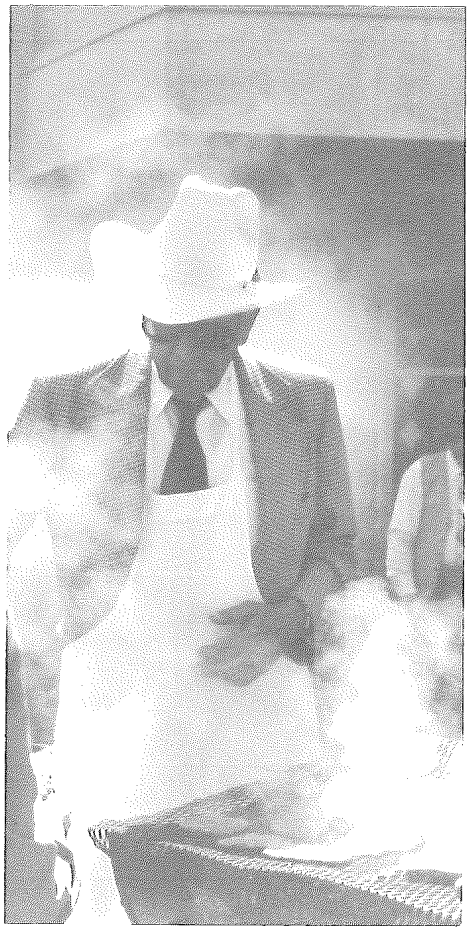

John F. McKenzie

MASS BAY

HAPPY BIRTHDAY

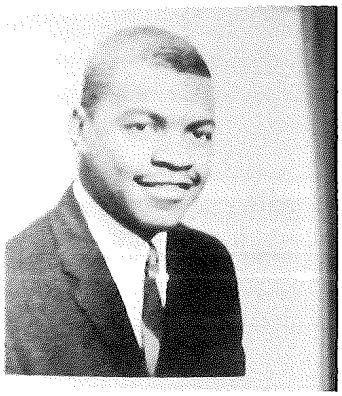

Founded in 1961, Massachusetts Bay Community College brought a new concept to meet the rising crises of the 1960's—the flood of post-war born college applicants and the financial squeeze in educating them. Former Governor Foster Furcolo established the Board of Regional Community Colleges in 1960 to provide high-quality, low-cost education for high school graduates who wished to attend two years of college within commuting distance. John F. McKenzie was elected President of the College by the Board on February 1, 1961. In the spring of 1961 the Boston University College of Practical Arts and Letters buildings were occupied by the initial staff, and the facilities underwent extensive renovations. On September 29, 1961, the College opened its doors to 419 students.

The first few years were critical for both the students and the faculty. It was during this critical period that high academic standards, vital faculty-student relationships, and social traditions were established. Although the College occupied temporary facilities for many years, the faculty and students manifested a real spirit of involvement, responsibility, and pride in the institution and particularly in its growth and development on a sound academic basis.

By September, 1965, increasing enrollment dictated the opening of additional facilities in Watertown on a site formerly occupied by the Raytheon Corporation adjacent to the Gore Estate. The Boston Campus was closed in 1966, and the College consolidated at the new Gore Campus. Seven new "relocatable" buildings were erected to accommodate the increased enrollment of approximately 1500 students. By September of 1967, the College was functioning in a "campus" way of life. However, there was a continuous search for a permanent campus and finally in November, 1973, the College opened its permanent facilities on 84-acres in Wellesley Hills on the site of the former Elizabeth Seton School.

The original Elizabeth Seton buildings, with distinctive arched windows and ornate fireplaces housed administrative offices and classrooms for the College. The student body over the years has continued to grow reaching almost 2,000 in recent history. The enrollment includes young, middle age, and senior citizen men and women with enthusiastic attitudes towards their College and learning.

From a simple beginning in Boston twenty years ago with few programs, the College now offers a wide variety of career options such as liberal arts, business administration, nursing, computer science, and medical laboratory technician. Of the original founding administration and faculty of the College back in 1961 President McKenzie, Dr. Anthony R. Carbone, Ms. Marilyn Goldthwait, Professor George Rogers and Dr. Carlo Vacca are still with the College.

The Student Advisory Commission (SAC) functions as an extra link of communication between the students and the Massachusetts Board of Regional Community Colleges (MBRCC), the policy making board for the 15 community colleges. SAC represents and strives to support student rights at all times. Their obligation to MBRCC is to instruct and advise them of student opinion; their obligation to the students they represent is to inform them of their rights and responsibilities as stated by the MBRCC; and their obligation to their fellow commissioners is to meet together and discuss student affairs and to offer helpful information, criticism, or suggestions.

This year our Social Activities Committee was at its best. With our Rollernite for freshmen, including rollerskating, all the way up to our Commencement Ball for our sophomores, it was one event after another. Our events, Rollernite, our Halloween Mixer, our mid-year bash, the Holiday Ball, and others all had a standing room only rule because everyone in the college would try to show up. All this was due to our Social Activities Chairpeople and the members.

This year College Hour proved to be very successful. Our goal as a committee was to offer different and exciting hours of entertainment to the students. Such events as hypnotists, magicians, comedians, and musical variety acts, combined with the ever popular Gong Show helped to make College Hour a great success.

This year we noticed an overwhelming support among the students. It has been a wonderful experience. We were able to achieve our goals due to the support from the students, faculty, and administration. Thanks for a great year.

Although we had a few setbacks, The Mass Bay Players was able to present a great show first semester entitled, "Those Tennessee Women." The show was composed of various scenes from plays written by Tennessee Williams. We presented a sneak preview during the college hour, and we had two evening performances.

Unfortunately, the spring musical, "Company," was postponed to the fall due to the necessary auditorium repairs. We hope to see more students join us in the fall for our production.

Good Luck, Mark, you're on your own.

A typical yearbook meeting?

Thanks, Dr. Carbone

Dear Staff:

I would like to thank you for all the help that you have given me over this past year. I know that there were many days and nights that you would rather have been some place else, but you spent you time in the Yearbook Office.

People that have never worked on a yearbook before don't realize the long and tiring hours that we spent in putting this book together. The contributions that each of you has made to this yearbook were felt by me, and I know that they will be felt by every person that looks through this book. I feel that each of you has really given something important to this yearbook, whether you did layout, art work, typing, or just sat in the offices with me and keeping me from losing my mind.

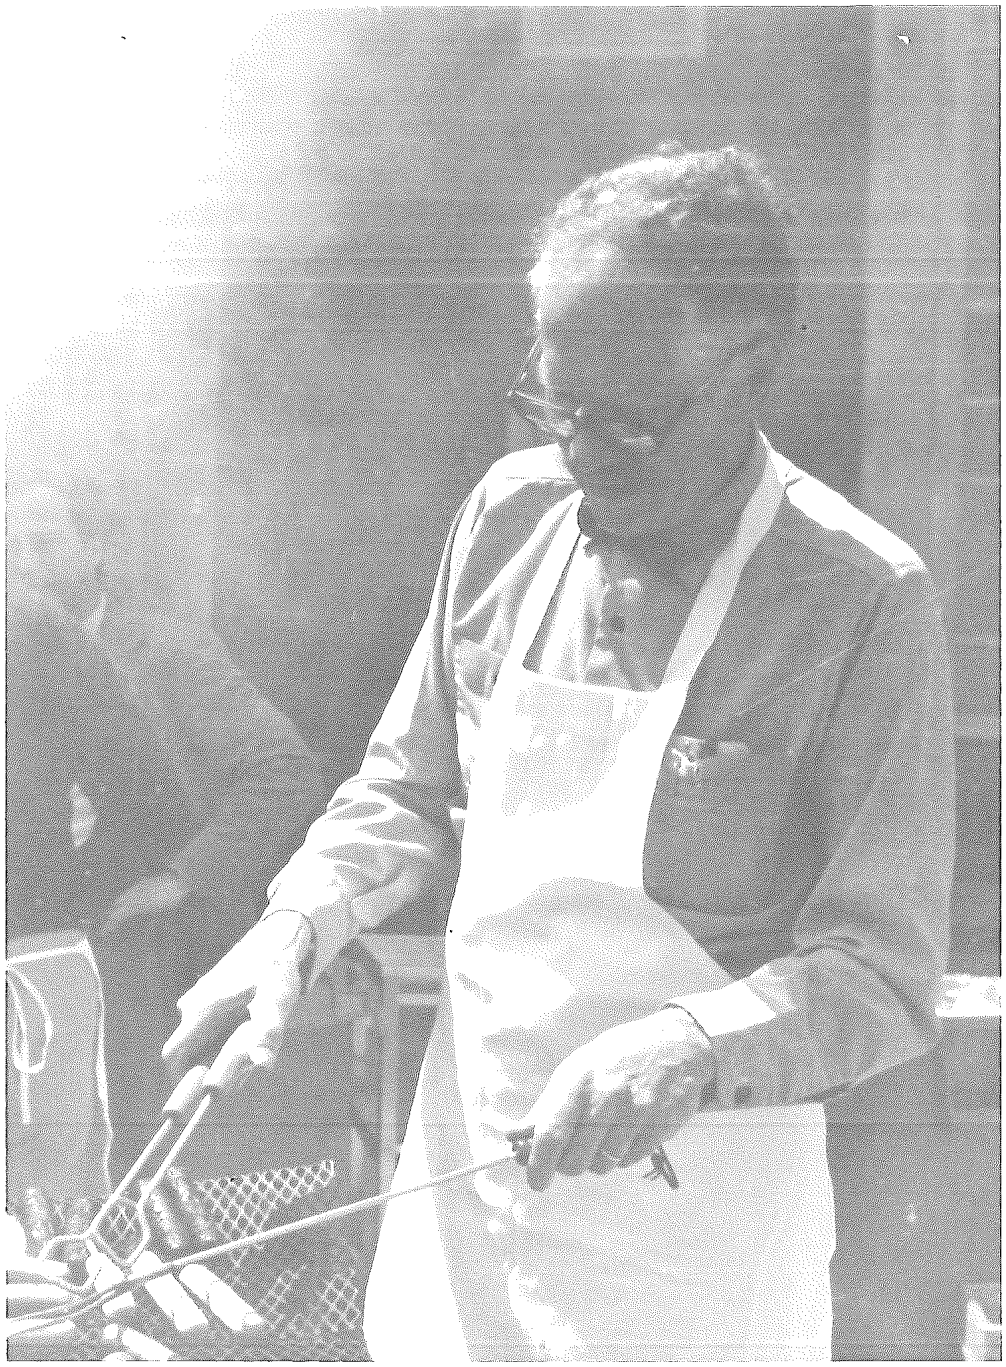

I would like to thank Dr. Anthony Carbone, our advisor. Mr. James Regan, and Mr. Jack Otterness, our yearbook representative, for all the help and understanding that they have given me over this past year.

I hope that this yearbook means as much to you as it does to me. I am proud to say that I was editor of this yearbook, and I am especially proud to say that you were my staff. Thank you for everything that you have done for this yearbook, and thank you for being there when I needed a staff the most.

Best of luck in the future,

Paula J. Ford

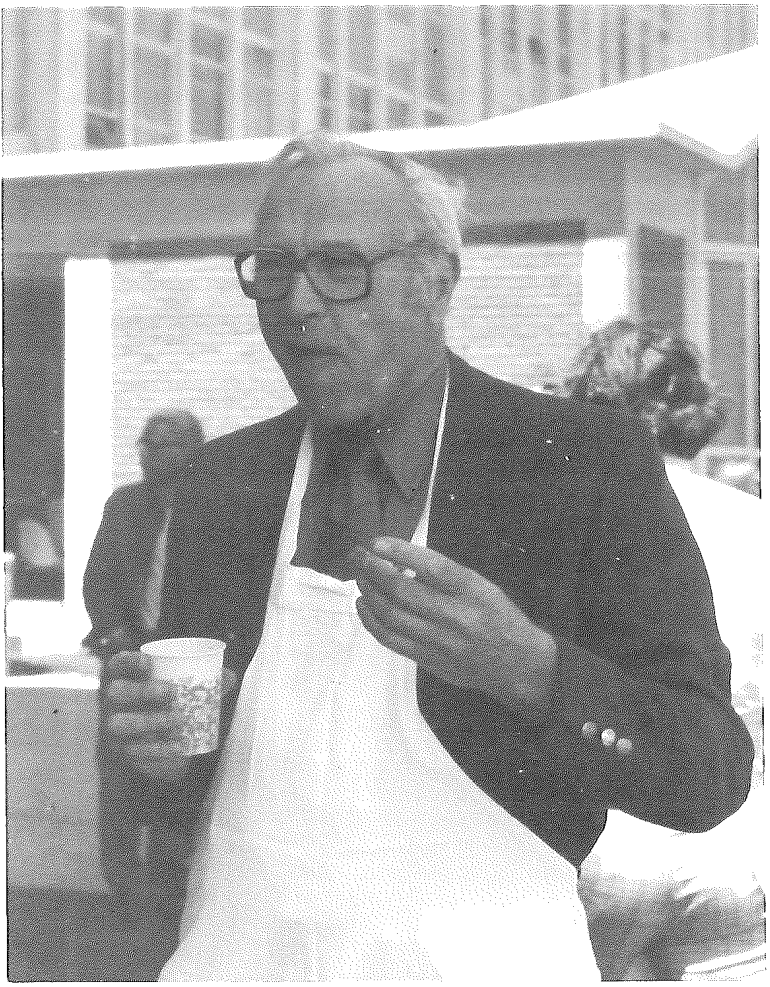

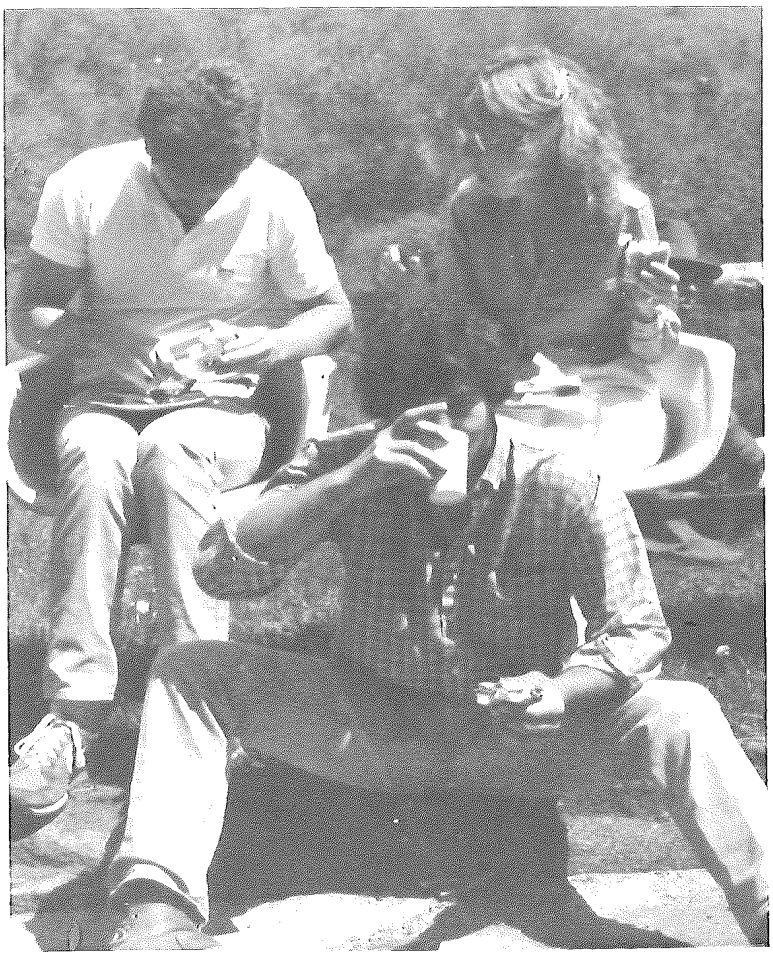

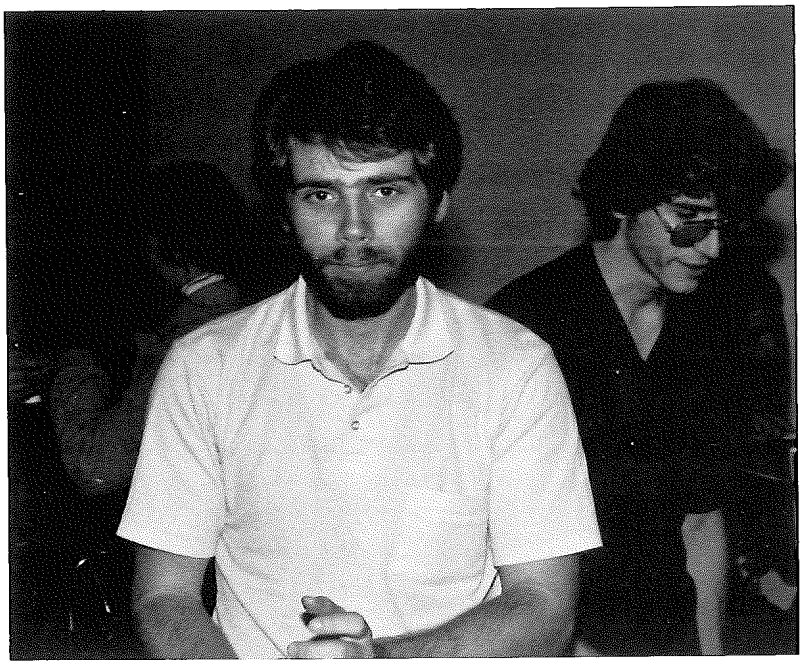

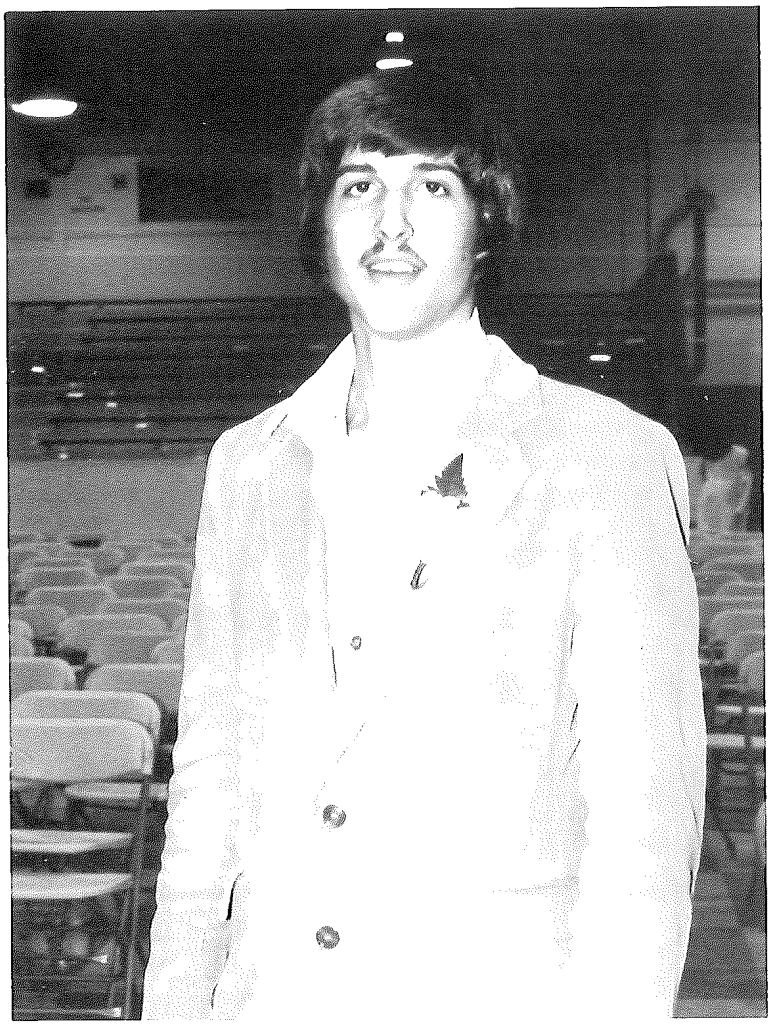

Thanks for everything, Roger.
